Lewis Rodman Wanamaker
Bears of Yesterday
Roads and Automobiles
Watch Mother Britain
By Arthur Brisbane

The world of business, and good citizens generally, regret the untimely death of Lewis Rodman Wanamaker, only 44 years old. Much useful work was crowded into his too short life. In 1883, at twenty, he became his father's partner, and when John Wanamaker died, his son Rodman became head of the entire business, in New York, Philadelphia and Paris. Presently, Rodman Wanamaker had spent ten years in the Paris branch of the firm, familiarizing himself with and managing the importing departments.

Inventor of a great fortune that he had helped build Rodman Wanamaker chose a life of continuous hard work. He was active in business and in civic enterprises, to which he devoted much time. And he was foremost in airplane development, financing the first plane of transatlantic flight, and first to offer airplanes at retail in his New York store. Messrs. Appel and Whalen, and his other close associates, have lost an inspiring co-worker.

Where are the hearts of yesterday? Answer, they are rubbing ears heads. Three million seven hundred thousand shares of stock sold yesterday in a terrific boom day, with General Motors skyrocketing above 125. Poor bears had to buy back, as best they could, a few odd shares, at a distance of round advice, offered here.

Don't gamble, long or short, just now especially. But whatever you do don't sell this country short. There are stocks called "high" selling below two hundred and below one hundred. Please turn to Page 16, Column 4.

A HOME PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE WHO THINK

REPORTER IN AIR SEES DARING SEA RESCUE

By JAMES SMITH
From the air above the wrecked steamer Robert E. Lee, with its 263 passengers and crew aboard, I watched rescuers write their names forever in the annals of the sea by fighting their way successfully to the stricken vessel's side against terrifying odds.

The size of the waves was staggering. They were pounding the port side of the wrecked ship and pouring over her gunwales at the bow in a leaping, foamy flood that reached the sea again over the starboard side.

Coast guards never battled on a life-saving mission against more fearful hindrance.

There was never a moment when the power launch and the lifeboat which the coast guard crews were using were not in danger of capsizing, and that they were able to make progress at all to the lee side of the steamer was amazing.

THEY WELCOME PLANE
The plane, piloted by Ralph Wickford of the Boston Airport Corporation, circled round and round. Not a sign of life could be seen on the battered port side of the ship. But on the starboard side, near the stern, 20 men of the passengers, officers and crew stood grimly watching their approaching savior.

Wickford dipped from his altitude of 200 feet and passed over their heads at a height of 40 feet. There were a few buoyant spirits in the group huddled on the deck to wave a greeting. Ready for action, Photographer "Bill" Jones snapped a picture of the group and then returned.

PSSENGERS LANDED; CREW ABANDONS LINER

All of her 150 passengers and the 113 members of her crew were rescued today from the liner Robert E. Lee, wrecked on Mary Ann rocks off Manomet Point in Massachusetts Bay. They were taken off in small boats and the passengers were landed in Plymouth.

Rescued Tell Own Stories

Captain and crew were taken aboard other vessels and it was announced the Lee had been abandoned.

The rescue was a tragic as well as an epic story written upon the surface of heavy seas a mile and one half from shore, for two coast guardsmen were drowned.

The two lost were members of a nine-man crew of the Manomet station surf boat which capsize returning from the Eastern Steamship Boston-to-New York liner while rescue operations were under way. They had been the first to undertake the perilous trip to the Lee's side—the first actually to start rescue operations.

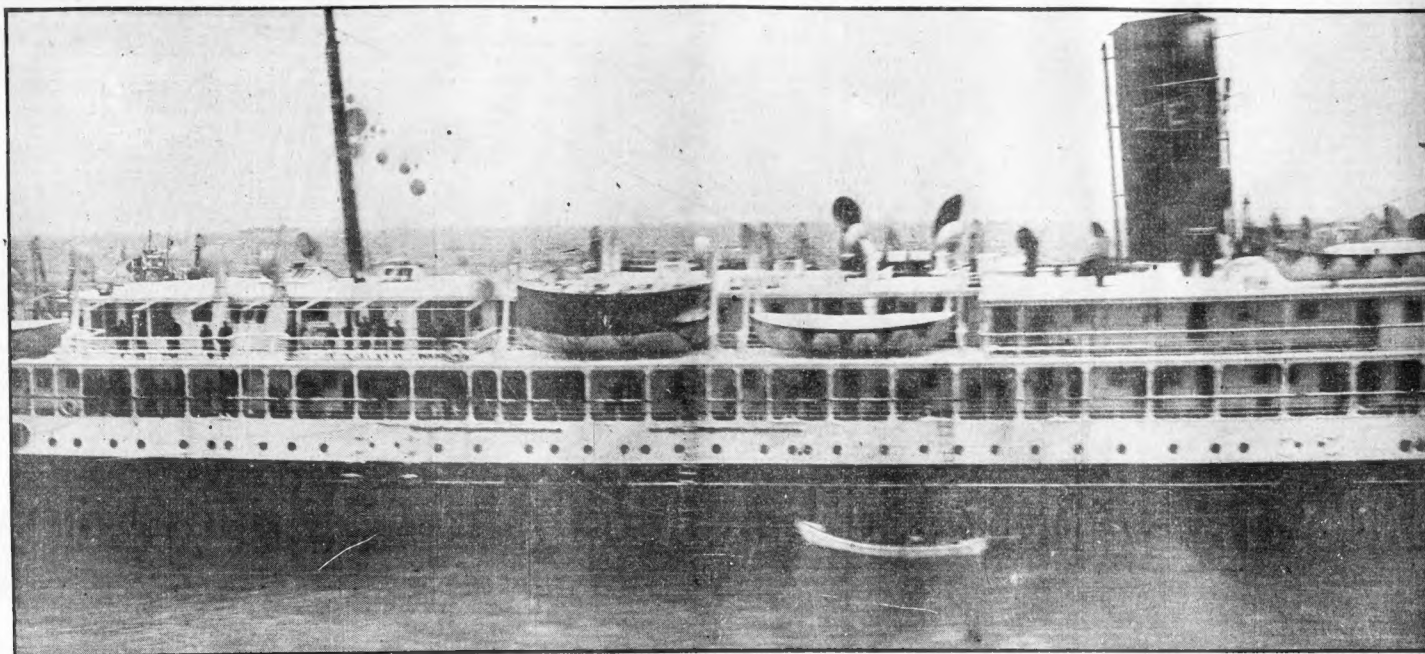

The C. G. 176 and the C. G. 178, both 75-footers, and a 40-foot motor launch from Sagamore, participated in the operations. They braved the danger of swamping or collision and moved into the comparative calm.

SHIPWRECK SEEN FROM AIR, AND RESCUERS AT WORK

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

BOSTON, SATURDAY, MARCH 10, 1928

which they conquered in heroic battle and then rowed to wrecked liner. Two of the crew were drowned when a combor smashed the boat returning to shore.

Over the rugged and snow-covered rocks of Manomet Point beach the coast guard crew is seen in this picture working the lifeboat to the water's edge where the angry sea is waiting to smash it to splinters, but the guardmen maneuvered their boat beyond the breakers into less dangerous water.

Scotman's Lucky Day

Sir Harry Lauder, amiable Scotch comic who comes Monday to the Colonial, is fond of recounting an incident which he describes as the happiest of his life. It occurred when he last landed at the port of New York. The boat was 24 hours late, thus saving a day's hotel bill.

STAGE AND SCREEN

Louis Lerner, manager of "Countess Maritza" at the Shubert, was reporting the show's arrival to John Luce, who asked, "How many people do you carry?" "Ninety-seven," was the reply. "How many?" exclaimed Mr. Luce. "Yes," said Lerner, "97, including wives, trainers and pomegranates."

NAUTICAL MUSICAL AND PLAIDED COMICS GIVE FRESH IMPETUS TO LOCAL DRAMA

WHO DARES put a fist up to our hero, Bill Hodge, in this shockingly impolite manner? But stay, Will will wallop this other Will, Will DeLone, and will leave him "Straight Thru the Door."

LOUISE GROODY is due to "Hit the Deck" Monday night at the Tremont when this lively Gotham musical hit moves into town. Miss Groody was in "No, No, Nanette."

STRONG ROMAN PUNCH seems to fit with Shakespearean melodrama, "Julius Caesar," which was presented at the Arlington last evening. Reading from Rome to Rome the bold verities are Joseph Singer as Caesar, John Burke as Cato, and Louis Leon Hall.

CECILE DIXON resumes her place at the Copley on Monday and will ornament the cast of "The Wrecker," Mr. Clive's latest importation from London.

A SKEWER IN DISGUISE is being put forward by Riddle Lang in "The Road to Home" at the Wilbur. Miss Cowt, apparently, is the cause of all the disturbance.

SPEAKING FOR THE UP-OWN DRAMA

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

THERE are indications of dissent among the venerable students of the local drama—pupils of the spoken word as contrasted with those of lighter heart who prefer a mixture of music and dance to the sterner harvests of the theater. However, it seems to me that to answer carping critics, there is always double misery when you find yourself sitting uneasily upon the dodging end of sharp and disquieting questions. If Joseph A. DiPesa, for illustration, had only remained securely contented in his own up-town glories and left the down-town theater to its own devices, everything would have been well, safe and happy.

BUT Mr. DiPesa plies a tortured typewriter; he commands an excellent vocabulary. And, it may be suggested casually, both are always ready to go. "May I inquire," he writes, "why the local reviewers accept and proclaim the corner of Boylston and Tremont as, as the center of Boston's spoken drama? What about upper Stuart street, where bolder things are always done and where longer engagements are the rule? Have you ever heard of the achievements of E. E. Clive? Did you know that 'The Creaking Chair' and 'The Ghost Train' enjoyed longer runs at the Copley than any of their contemporaneous rivals down town? I might also mention 'Murray Hill' and 'Yellow Sands' as items which have caught the ear of intelligent reviewers."

AND in such fashion Mr. DiPesa's fingers tickled over the keyboard. The gentleman presented his case in sound form; he asked dispassionate questions. And he boasted everything from Massachusetts to the corner of Huntington and Stuart at, with all the reserved fervor justifiable in an ardent and artistic Latin nature. He wanted to know. "This is an indignant demand for justice," concluded Mr. DiPesa.

OF course, everybody who remains out after 9:30 in the evening knows that the bright lights of the village twinkle more brilliantly up town than down. The principal theaters may be nearer the centers of finance and business, but night clubs and other nocturnal congregations flourish more gayly in remote regions. Mr. Clive's conquest of the drama has been one of the outstanding individual accomplishments of the decade. He has prospered where others have failed; he has made this good old town take its drama straight from dear old London and like it. Mr. DiPesa may be half right, anyway, for there has been a large assortment of good plays up town this season. But we are not inclined to believe that an excess of electric lights, night clubs and Chinese restaurants constitute a theatrical center.

NAMING THE DAY

THELMA TODD and Richard Barthelmess get their heads together to decide whether they will have chicken salad or oyster plates for their wedding breakfast. The picture is aptly called "The Nurse" (Scullay).

Hoots, a Scot!

SIR HARRY LAUDER, with some new and old, will come Monday to the Colonial.

LEIBER WILL REMAIN

Of late years it has only been at rare intervals that the theater-going public has been privileged to see the great plays of Shakespeare, which are now being presented by Fritz Leiber and associate players at the Arlington.

The appreciation shown by the large audiences that have attended the Leiber productions during the past week makes it possible for this organization to stay another week at the Arlington. "Hamlet" will be given Monday night; Tuesday night, "Macbeth"; Wednesday matinee, "The Taming of the Shrew" (in modern dress); Wednesday night, "Othello"; Thursday night, "Julius Caesar"; Friday night, "Macbeth"; Saturday matinee, "Hamlet"; and Saturday night, "The Merchant of Venice."

In the repertoire of Fritz Leiber, "Hamlet" is perhaps the most staple. This is the play in which Mr. Leiber made his New York debut as a star six years ago and which he achieved a noteworthy triumph. Next to "Hamlet," Macbeth has awakened the deepest interest and caused the most extensive controversy. The reason being that, like Hamlet, it opens the mysterious realm of spiritual life, the boundless environment of the unknown, into which thinking persons, sooner or later, peer with anxious eyes, awe-stricken and perplexed.

Looking Ahead

MARCH 15—"Behold the Bridegroom" at the Wilbur. Joseph Santley in "Just Fancy" at the Shubert. "Good News" at the Majestic. "Simba," an African jungle film, at the Colonial.

MARCH 16—"Escape" with Leslie Howard, at the Plymouth.

NEXT WEEK'S NEW BILLS

TREMONT—"Hit the Deck," an American musical comedy. Score by Vincent Youmans; book by Herbert Fields; lyrics by Leo Robin and Clifford Grey. The cast is headed by Louise Groody, who is supported by Charles King, Stella Mayhew, Madeline Cameron and Roger Gray. A chorus of 15 amply fills the ensembles. Book staged by Alexander Leftwich; dances by Seymour Felix. Produced by Vincent Youmans.

COLONIAL—Sir Harry Lauder, singing comedian and perennially popular entertainer. Two programs are announced, one for the first half of the week, the other starting Thursday night. Both old and new songs make up the repertoire. Included in an auxiliary company, including Kharum, a Persian pianist; the Griffin Twins, dancers; Fieurette Joffe, soprano, and the DeLone Trio.

COPLEY—"The Wrecker," a railway mystery play by Arnold Ridley and Bernard Merivale. Many mechanical devices are required to make effective the illusions. In the cast are E. E. Clive, Cecile Dixon, May Edie, Kenneth Dudgeon, Gaby Fay, Rupert Lucas, Norman Cannon, David Clyde, W. E. Watts, Richard Whort and Ralph Roberts. Staged by Mr. Clive.

ST. JAMES—(Stock) "Pigs," a comedy by Anna Morrison and Patterson McNutt. Small town comedy in which a youth dabbles in pork and wins both a fortune and his lady fair. In the leading roles are Walter Gilbert and Clara Joel.

GAYETY—(Burlesque) "Happy Hours," a gay affair in mirth and melody. The featured player is Harry Stratton, a comedian; also in the cast are Evelyn Ramsey, Etta Moore, Marie Arnold, Freddie Walker, Fred Reese and Bobby Taylor. A chorus of 20 takes care of its own sprightly choruses.

Wee Director Is Mighty in His Friendships

Mervyn LeRoy, director of "Fighting Rome," which starts tomorrow at the Washington St. Olympia, is both one of the youngest and smallest directors in Hollywood. However, don't pick a fight with him for that reason. Jack Dempsey is one of his closest friends, for it was LeRoy who first introduced Dempsey to Estelle Taylor. Charlie Murray and George Sidney are featured in this comedy for First National Pictures.

Soloists and Chorus in "King David" at Symphony

Soloists to appear in the coming season, fund performance of "King David," in Symphony Hall on Sunday afternoon, April 1st, will be Ethyl Hayden, soprano, and Fudge Davies, tenor. The narrator, who takes a part similar to that in "Ondine," will be Paul Legrand, of the New York City Opera House, who has appeared in "The Song of the Sea" in the production of that score.

MODEST TRICKSTER

PROVING that the female of the species is more deadly, Ruth Gordon of "Saturday's Children" at the Plymouth proceeds to tear the tottering hero to her anxiously tender heart.

Opera Thrust

BROWNIE FEEBLES will sing Carmen in the American Opera company coming to the Hollis.

"GOOD NEWS" IS COMING

Marion Chambers, premier dancer in "Good News," due at the Majestic on March 12, is an "army child."

When Marion was big enough to go to school she found herself in California. She has been Marion Chambers dancing for 13 years now and can do all sorts of intricate things perched on her toes. She danced for years on the Pacific coast and has appeared in pictures. She doubled for Gloria Swanson in "The Great Moment." So if you want to know what Marion looks like, remember Gloria. Of course they are both brunettes.

Gloria of "The Great Moment" first essay into Broadway theatricals was in "Tempations." Then followed a season in the Greenwich Village follies, another in "Poppy" and a long vaudeville tour as the featured dancer in "The Castle of Dreams."

Film Futures

MARCH 16—W. C. Fields and Louise Fazenda in "Billie's Punctured Romance" at the Metropolitan. MARCH 18—Reginald Denny in "That's My Daddy" at the Keith-Albee Boston. Milton Sills in "Burning Daylight" at the Washington Street Olympia. MARCH 19—Gloria Swanson in "Sadie Thompson" at Loew's State.

GRAND OPERA "WEAR KILTS FOR COLDS."—LAUDER

Gounod's "Faust" has been chosen to open the American Opera Company's Boston season on Monday evening at the Hollis.

It will be a "Faust" rejuvenated by Vladimir Rosing, under whose direction all the opera have been staged, with new scenes and costumes by Robert Edmund Jones and a new English text by Robert A. Simon.

"Faust" as presented by the American Opera Company has several elements of novelty. The production aims to represent the Goethe poem as faithfully as the Gounod music. To this end Meisner-Trope has been made the embodiment of the negative forces of life rather than a conventional stage devil with incredible horns and tail.

Two artists sing the role of Faust, one representing the aged philosopher, and the other the young man of the world, created by Meisner-Trope, the conqueror. The role of Gretchen, usually given to a mezzo-soprano, is sung by a tenor, in that it seems more logical for a man's role to be sung by a man.

"Op'um," says Mr. Rosing, "is of the theatre and for the theatre public. A public that loves music but wants with it dramatic stage entertainment that, from the point of view of national sentiment, suggestive action and characterization, is a more intelligent production than the usual drama. From this angle we have approached 'Faust'."

Cecile Dixon, charming English girl member of the E. E. Clive organization at the Copley, first appeared in this city with George Arliss in "Ondine."

While in England, Miss Dixon attracted the attention of John Galsworthy and he highly recommended her to his friend, Mr. Arliss. Miss Dixon came to this country and assumed a role in the play, which at that time was being presented at the Ritz Theater in New York City. Miss Dixon remained with the company until it was disbanded.

Later she made appearances here with Katherine Corcoran in "The Green Hat" and with Pauline Lord in "Spelbound."

Mother-in-Law Unchanged Through the Centuries

The typical mother-in-law was just as common 250 B. C. as she is today. Twenty-two centuries have not changed the matron who feels that her son's wife can't possibly be good enough for him," says Jessie Ralph, who portrays Mrs. Fabius, Sr., with Jane Cowt in "The Road to Home," at the Wilbur.

Mrs. Fabius, Sr., wears a prim toget of dark gray as a rebuke to her daughter-in-law's colorful taste in dress. She coddles her son and nags the slaves. Toward her daughter-in-law she is stern, haughty and critical. "Paradoxical as it may be," comments Miss Ralph, "Mrs. Fabius, Sr. is one of the best comedy roles I have ever played."

At home, in Scotland, with the old air sweeping down from the mountains, and the odd mist coming up from the Clyde, he invariably wears kilt, and he is harder and better for it, he declares. This—

Last season, in order to get from one city to another in time to speak at a Rotary Club luncheon, at which he was to be the guest of honor, he donned the "kilt" and motored over. The sold he picked up latest a view.

"The explanation is simple, and Sir Harry will say so himself, if you happen to get chatting with him during his engagement at the Colonial.

"Nature made the hands and face—eye, and the knee—be exposed—," he will say, "the more they are exposed the harder they become. The kilt and the short hose do that for the kiltlander. Contrarily, the body should be kept warm. In the kilt there is fold after fold of the warmest woolen fabric. Take it off, for I see what happens! I know, for I nearly always take cold when I abandon the kilt, even for a day."

This is a great suggestion for the persistent "entireties." Take Sir Harry's pointer, wear kilts or "kilt" as he calls them, and be immune from colds!

Thursday Poor Day for 'Brother John'

Bagdad, Cal., March 10 (INS)—"Prophet" Jonas Israel, who styles himself the "Lord's entry" in the G. O. Pyle contest, to count Marshall, fell behind the caravan today as he observed his Sabbath at his oasis in the great American desert.

"Brother John," as Israel has named himself, hale, hearty and 52 years old, has added to his schedule tonight a pair of prophets in his last bout for protection against blistering sands.

From Sunday Friday to Sunday Saturday I observe my Sabbath and will be off the trail. I will draw my robes about me and lie down under a clump of sage brush, peaceful and untroubled. Thus I await the dawn of the new day.

Another eight-rounder elicited yesterday with George Jimmy Apple. While of the city and the day, the bout was a great success.

Bruins and Rangers in Desperate Battle

Appreciating the great importance of the contest, and keyed up to a point of desperation by their defeats in Montreal, the New York Rangers can be expected to offer the keenest opposition the Bruins have encountered this season at the Arena tonight.

Since the start of the season, the Bruins and the Rangers have been fighting it out for the National Hockey League title. One of the bitterest of these battles was the one which took place at the Arena on Wednesday night.

The Bruins will enter tonight's game with a two-point advantage over the Rangers. The Rangers, on the other hand, will enter the game with a one-point advantage.

Food for Thought
The portraits of eight laymen, reared in their particular communions, were recently published in this page, and no one out of many thousands of readers could tell to which division of the Christian church they all belonged. One guessed six out of eight, and that was the best, and he confessed he studied racial characteristics rather than religious impress.

Two weeks ago the eight laymen gave their answers to the question, "What is essential to make Boston a Kingdom of God?" and again the public tried to label them by denominations and failed in the same way. It couldn't be done. The Baptist asked for the elimination of selfishness; the Congregationalist suggested that people live up to the principles they profess; the Quaker urged love between all kinds of people; the Catholic advised "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart"; the Unitarian was satisfied to have the Golden Rule applied; the Episcopalian suggested, "Begin by attending your church, and try and carry your religion into office and factory"; the Methodist concluded that strict obedience to the Ten Commandments would be sufficient, and the Presbyterian would have righteousness, peace and joy.

The question which is beginning to be asked occasionally by the older generation, and insistently by the youth, is: If representative laymen look so much alike and think so nearly the same about a heaven upon earth, why so much poverty about fences and walls to divide one from another? Paul said, "When I was a child I thought as a child." Students, we are told, "resent" what seems to them artificial separation from their fellows. Let the best in all of us join the line in the rest of us to smother the worst in us. And all join hands.

Boston's Big Auto Show Opens With Largest Display in History—

The largest crowd in 26 years of Automobile Shows in Boston greeted the opening of the annual Motor Vehicle Pageant in Mechanics Building at 10 o'clock this morning. Early indications pointed to a record opening day attendance.

Before noon a slowly moving throng filled the aisles between long lines of attractive cars of every size, shape and color. Mechanics Building as large as it is, seemed much too small to accommodate the steady stream of humanity that filed through the gates.

Farmer, banker, artisan, tradesman and professional man rubbed elbows in the annual democratic gathering to view the latest creations of the motor world. Mechanics Building has been transformed into a veritable palace of beauty, the result of months of effort in preparation for the great million dollar pageant of the motor world.

A gorgeous canopy of artistry in decoration and vari-colored electrical effects gave an Aladdin-like touch to the scene presented. The big exhibition hall had the several hundred models of the latest types and har- monious color schemes turned out in a most artistic manner. The cars started in its early, active and brilliant display.

In the basement of the building the new cars of the Boston Automobile Show of 1928 for outdoor use are displayed. These include the new cars and other commercial vehicles. The cars have been supplied this year in the way of participation of the motor world, the most complete in the development of the high compression type of engine, the most perfect and progressive, will be easier to see in the motor show, and the most perfect car speed has been brought about, without increase of the weight of the car.

The convertibles are the very latest type of motor car, and are designed to give the open air freedom of the motor car, and also complete protection when it is needed in a second form of low temperature.

Through the convertible type it is not as for adaptation is different in that the car build is have discovered methods when a convertible car can be built with a little or squeak. The convertible is not only a car of the motor type, it is a car of the motor type, and are even more interesting in its design and price.

At the 10 o'clock in the Copley Place ball room, which will be opened Monday and will continue through next Friday, there are to be a dozen different make of the latest automobiles made in the United States.

Reports from the hotels indicate that the show will be crowded all through next week. Large delegations are coming to Boston in all the automobiles factory cars, for the Boston show is considered the most important of the New England motor trade. There will be numerous gatherings, most of them, and drivers, and by manufacturers and distributors to New England dealers in which leading officials of the factory organization will speak.

Overwhelming Endorsement - a Quarter Million New Chevrolets on the Road since Jan. 1st

Since its announcement on January first, the Bigger and Better Chevrolet has been awarded a public endorsement of spectacular proportions! Nine million people crowded Chevrolet salesrooms the first three days following its presentation!

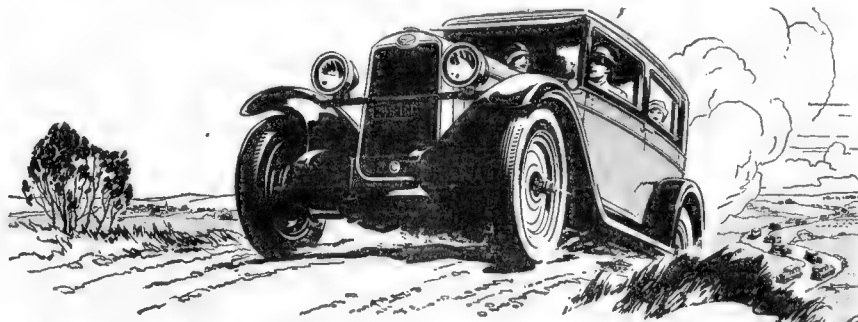

Thousands of retail deliveries have been made every day since! A quarter million of these new cars are now on the road! And if you see and drive this great new car you can quickly sense why its tremendous popularity is increasing every day.

It is smoother and more powerful—because its improved valve-in-head motor incorporates numerous engineering achievements. It is more beautiful and more comfortable—because the fashionably styled new Fisher bodies are longer, lower and supported on semi-elliptic springs 84% as long as the wheelbase. It is easier to drive—because the worm and gear steering mechanism is fitted with ball bearings throughout. And it sells at amazing low prices made possible by the economies of tremendous volume production which last year made Chevrolet the world's largest builder of automobiles.

Come in today! Get a demonstration of this sensational new car. Learn why it is everywhere hailed as the world's most luxurious low-priced car.

STYLE

IS THE MAGNET THAT draws
the crowds to NASH

FOR after your visit to the Motor Show you'll remember the style and luxury of the Nash group of fine motor cars. There is beauty and quality in coachwork by Nash certain to make you conscious of its fine character.

The color harmonies will strike you as exceptionally charming. Notice their depth and brilliancy. They are applied by the Nash deep-lustre process—an epochal accomplishment in motor car finish.

Notice the quality in Nash upholstery—and their wide range of attractive hues—striking two-toned effects in black and mauve, smoke, taupe, turquoise, Baltic Green and many others. These fabrics are chosen from the looms of America's finest textile originators.

Notice, also, the liberal use of straight-grained and knurled walnut and walnut finish paneling—the steering wheels done in solid walnut with their attractive inlaid design—the comfort and luxury of Nash form-fitted seats, tufted and deep buttoned in the European manner. Authentic period patterns for the silvered interiorware add still another touch of style. Every detail is correct.

You'll find it very difficult to realize that so highly desirable a motor car can be purchased so reasonably (Nash price reductions became effective February 1).

"The most valuable car ever offered for so little money"

TO KNOW how much greater value is offered you in the perfected Whippet, compare its many features with what you get in other light cars.

Advanced Engineering

When the first Whippet was produced it was far ahead of competition. And the perfected Whippet is still ahead of the field in modern engineering design. It has a drilled crankshaft for full force-feed lubrication, and silent timing chain as used on the finest custom cars. It has the only light car power plant which actually doubles its rated horsepower.

The Whippet holds the A. A. A. Coast-to-Coast Economy Record with an average of 43.28 miles to a gallon of gasoline. No other car in its class has ever shown such economy. It holds, also, many speed, second gear, hill-climbing and other records. In short, it has proved its superior qualities of performance in countless tests and in the hands of hundreds of thousands of drivers.

Until you, yourself, sit at the wheel of the Whippet, and put it through its paces, you can never truly appreciate its liveliness, its pickup, its speed and smoothness, its comfort and its easy handling.

FRANKLIN HA
NEW FEATURE

"A desirable feature of new car designs among the users of water-cooled motors is the increase in use of radiators," says Otto H. Lawler, general manager of the Bosch Engine Division.

Engineers are frank to admit that the increase in the average rate of speed allowed by various states throughout the country and a steady increase in the number of automobiles owned by the average person can be driven for hours at a rate of speed that has necessitated the use of more efficient cooling systems. "The need for more efficient cooling systems is the necessity for greater car speed on a unit of horsepower and the increase in the use of the car to actually aid construction in the waterfront area."

The new three-cylinder motor is used in the cooling efficiency of the car. The new motor is designed for the part of the driver.

The radiative area of the cooling fan is increased by 10 percent, and the fan driven directly to the flywheel.

LINCOLN

RE-CONDITIONED CARS

During Auto Show Week we have arranged an unusual showing of Lincoln cars in our display at the Lincoln Motor Company building, 1001 Commonwealth Ave. and Bay St.

THE owner of a re-conditioned Lincoln possesses permanently the individuality of this GREAT Car. He need never buy another. Not only does he drive a motor that arrests attention on the most fashionable highways, but he is secure in the knowledge that his car is as near mechanically perfect as human craftsmanship and ingenuity can provide.

Our re-conditioned Lincolns carry an unconditional 90-day guarantee and free service for 4 months. You are invited to inspect our display at our Show Rooms.
